Aithough there is no likelihood that all the accessible coal within a short radius of Pittsburgh will be mined for generations to come, it is an interesting fact, reported by the Pittsburgh 'Chronicle-Telegraph,' that within the next five years all the accessible coal in the first and second pools will be entirely mined out, and the river coal operators will be compelled to turn their attention to points further up the Mononga-

At Louisville, Ky., under the new ordinance regulating the collection of licenses by the sinking fund all peddlers must pay $10.00 for the privilege of selling during the period of six months. This includes the peddlers of coal, who are very numerous in that city, the exact number being unknown, from the fact that no Hoense busy trying to make all peddlers, and particularly those selling coal, take out the required is cense. The license on teams has also been increased, and the inspectors have a great deal of extra work looking after this class of persons. Quite a large number of licenses fall due at the beginning of the year, and this requires more than ordinary vigilance at this time. It is estimated that the new ordinance will add about $50,000 to the sinking fund during the current
